Re: U.S. Patent Application

Inventors : John W. Liskowitz et al
Assignee : New Jersey Institute of Technology
Title : METHOD FOR PREPARING FLY ASH FOR HIGH
COMPRESSIVE STRENGTH CONCRETE AND
MORTAR, AND COMPOSITIONS THEREOF
Serial No. : 09/234,810
Filed : January 21, 1999
NJIT Ref. : 96-02
Our File : 715-1-060 CIP

Dear Dennis:

We are corresponding with you at your residence address, to request your assistance in the completion of the filing of this above-identified Patent Application. A copy of the Application is enclosed.

To refresh your recollection, the subject matter of this invention was initially identified and a Patent Application was filed in December 1996. At that time, your company, Union Process, was unwilling to permit you to execute the formal papers. The result was that the Application was filed with evidence of your (and your company's) unwillingness to sign the papers, and we nonetheless were able to pursue the processing of that Application through the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

The present Application is a further version of that case, that was prepared to accommodate certain changes in particle size ratios that had not been identified in the earliest filing. These changes result as we understand it, from work that Dr. Liskowitz subsequently did, however your role as a co-inventor continues to be acknowledged. For this reason therefore, we have submitted this further case naming you as a co-inventor and wish only to join your signature with that of Dr.

Liskowitz for the more customary processing of the Application through the Application stage. We hope that by now, you are either willing or able to execute the document and to spare NJIT the expense and need of submitting extensive Petitions to gain the filed status without your signature.

In any event, please correspond with us indicating your disposition with regard to the Application. If you are able to sign the papers, please note that they are enclosed herewith and that your signature should be placed on the papers where indicated with the markers. If on the other hand, you remain unwilling to sign, please correspond directly with me to this effect so that we may have formal record of your position.

With best regards.

Sincerely,

KLAUBER & JACKSON
